Volunteers' Week 2008

To mark Volunteers' Week, TRAIID is celebrating and thanking the volunteers who add so much to the organisation.

Volunteers have always been welcomed at TRAIID but this year, with the appointment of Volunteer Services Manager Peter Stokes, we are establishing new policies and practices to ensure that volunteers really become part of the fabric of TRAIID.

Volunteer Recruitment Manager Peter Stokes said: "I'm delighted to involve TRAIID in Volunteer Week for the first time as a statement of how we recognise and appreciate the contribution our volunteers make to the work of TRAIID."

A 'Testimonial Wall' at our Head Office in Wembley is giving everyone (staff, fellow volunteers and anyone else involved with the organisation) the chance to thank and acknowledge our volunteers. Volunteers will also be taken out for a slap up meal.

The skills shared by volunteers with TRAIID are diverse and cover education, communications, environmental science, graphic design, fashion, administration and retail.
